Forwards (also known as attackers) are outfield positions in an associa tion football team who play the 😊 furthest up the pitch and are therefo re most responsible for scoring goals as well as assisting them. As with any 😊 attacking player, the role of the forward relies heavily on being able t o create space for attack.[1] Their advanced position 😊 and limited def ensive responsibilities mean forwards normally score more goals on behalf of the ir team than other players.
Attacking positions generally 😊 favour irrational players who ask questions to the defensive side of the opponent in order to create scoring c hances, where 😊 they benefit from a lack of predictability in attacking play. Modern team formations normally include one to three forwards. For 😊 example, the common 4 2 3 1 includes one forward.[2] Less conventional form ations may include more than three forwards, or sometimes none.[3][4]
